

Detecting Italy

Creative writing and other media competition

– for schools in Edinburgh and Glasgow and Edinburgh University students

Best Gadda Juniors 2012

The Scottish Junior Award of the Edinburgh Gadda Prize

Creative writing and other media competition open to secondary schools (S4/S5/S6) in Edinburgh and Glasgow and to Edinburgh University students (year 1).

Handy dates

Rules 2012 go live – 30 November 2011

Closing date – 15 May 2012

Semifinalist workshop – June 2012

Winners labs – September 2012

The Prize

The nine winners of Scottish Gadda Juniors 2012 will join the six winners of Gadda Giovani 2011, our interim Italian category, as part of Edinburgh 2012, the second main edition of the Prize.

The team's task will be to realise a multimedia performance-exhibition from the material – text and other media – generated in the junior competition process.

The new event – a further homage to Gadda's love of hybrids – will be the centrepiece of the Edinburgh 2012 Award Ceremony.

In our projects awards are not just awards. Participation is the prize.

Your brief

You are a detective.

You must get on the case fast.

You have only got 2,000 words to tell your story. And it must detect-discover-explore Italy, even outside Italy.

Check the Rules online!

Qualifying entries

Only detection will do – either as a short story or as a dialogue for the stage.

Noir in Italy is Yellow
– investigate why

design by FGP

www.gaddaprizet.ed.ac.uk
info.gaddaprizeschools@ed.ac.uk